

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSUE

The present invention relates to a cosmetic composition particularly for make-up of facial skin, lips and eyelashes. It contains as essential ingredients a polyisoprene with a molecular weight of between 100,000 and 4,000,000, an oleophilic modified clay, and an organic solvent. The balance contains usual cosmetic excipients, colourants and other cosmetic additives. By the use of the particular polyisoprene improved film-forming properties of the composition are obtained, and the composition is transfer-resistant and easy to apply.
